Speak up for our youth and communities on

October 27, 2015 5:30 pm to 8 pm

at El Centro de la Raza, 2524 16th Avenue South, Seattle

Bring your whole family!

This will be a chance to dialogue with parents, youth, policy makers and service providers in SE Seattle about how to keep kids safe, healthy, happy, and drug free so they can learn.

Confirmed speakers:

- Joe McDermott – King County Councilmember and Board of Health Chair
- Ruthann Kurose – Board Member WA Liquor and Cannabis Board
- Judge J. Wesley Saint Clair - King County Superior Court
- Scott Neal – Tobacco Prevention Manager, Public Health – Seattle & King County
- Jimmy Hung – King County Prosecuting Attorney's Office
- Sheila Capestany – King County, Best Starts for Kids Levy

A multi-cultural dinner, interpreters and childcare will be provided.

Special session for teens: Helping Young People to "Walkaway" from Drugs and Violence by Seattle's own Michael Passian.

Sponsored by: SE Seattle PEACE Coalition, Asian Counseling and Referral Services (ACRS), APICAT, El Centro De La Raza, Center for Multi-Cultural Health, Neighborhood House, Healthy King County Coalition, King County Alcohol and Other Drug Prevention Program, WA State Department of Social and Health Services, Puget Sound Educational Service District, Seattle Public Schools and other partners.
